The Linn Classik: A Complete High-End System in One Small Box!

There are two different types of people who need a Linn Classik. The first type is someone who wants a small but high quality secondary system for a bedroom, rec. room or office. The second type is someone who is not an audiophile, but who can appreciate good sound and just wants the best compact system available. Just about everyone on earth fits into one or both of these categories, which means there is a wide-spread need for the Linn Classik.

The Classic is a powerful integrated amplifier with a high-quality CD player and tuner built in. It sounds fantastic and takes up no more space than any other piece of Linn gear. It includes a full function remote control and some speaker wire so you can hook it up immediately after taking it out of the box. It will work with speakers that you already have or ones you buy from us. Linn even makes two perfect speaker models to go with the Classik. One is the AV5110 at $299. (And if you want to get cute you can buy the Classik and the AV5110 speakers to match each other in one of four different colors- black, white, green and silver.) The other is the Kan, which only comes in black, but is even better sounding and costs just $545 for the pair. The Classik sells for just $1995 and even has a built in alarm clock function. So what are you waiting for?
