Introducing the LINN IKEMI CD Player

Want the best sounding CD player you can buy right now for under $10,000. The new Linn Ikemi is it. Using Linn's fantastic Brilliant Power Supply (digital switching power supply) which is a trickle down from their $20,000 CD12, the Ikemi's sound is breathtaking. Forget about all of the audiophile descriptives. The Ikemi makes instruments and voices sound more like themselves, while having the rare ability to make your toes tap along to the music. In short, everything sounds better through the Ikemi.

The price is only $3500 and buys you much more than great sound. You get both RCA and balanced XLR audio outputs, multiple digital inputs and Linn's ultra-cool, machined in-house loading mechanism with the sleek aluminum tray (much like the one in the CD12). We think its good enough to go up against anything at almost any price short of it's older brother at $20K. Come hear one for yourself or call us to arrange a home audition!
