A Better Audio & Home Theater Experience

Get the Quality of High-End Separates in One Elegant Component for $3,995

Linn has accomplished the seemingly impossible feat of combining all the elements of a high-end music and theater system into one breathtaking package and they've done it with virtually no compromises. The new Classik Movie delivers a level of sonic performance that shames a lot of market-leading separates at a price point that's difficult to imagine. This elegant piece performs all the functions of a high resolution CD/DVD player, advanced Dolby Digital/DTS/ProLogic II Surround Sound Processor, 5-Channel Power Amplifier, and Tuner, and it's only $3,995. Don't let the price fool you, this system sounds better than most separates costing twice the price. Whether you are listening to your favorite CDs in stereo or watching a DVD in surround, even the most demanding audiophile will be delighted with the sound of the Classik. The intuitive setup and operation win high marks for ease of use and one remote does it all. Contrast the minimalist aesthetic of the single chassis with a typical stack of gear and cables and you can see why the "spouse acceptance factor" of the Classik is off the charts.

By utilizing advanced computer controlled robotic assembly lines, surface mount technology and their proprietary "Brilliant" digital switch-mode power supplies, Linn has reduced the size of their circuitry to microscopic levels. Even more impressive, is the fact that the more efficient circuit layout actually improves the sound...a counter-intuitive result for most of us. The patented power supplies are the secret to combining all this functionality in a single chassis without sacrificing performance. The Classik has two additional inputs which can be used for other sources like your cable box, satellite receiver, and maybe a VCR or DVD recorder.

Want more power than the Classik Movie provides? No problem, add a multichannel amp like Linn's amazing 500 watt AV5125 (at $2,950) and you'll have power to spare. Connect speakers and a display device and your system is complete. Visit our new showroom where you can experience the Classik Movie with a wide variety of complementary equipment or read more about Linn in the "Products" page.
