

Who's Spinning What

Posted: March 4, 2004

Scott Wilson, co-owner of Ultra Fidelis, a high-performance audio and video equipment company at 740 N. James Lovell St., hears lots of music during his workday.

Recently, he's been listening to:

Miles Davis, "Birth of the Cool": "One of the first bebop albums, from 1949. The latest version was recently re-mastered - on vinyl - and sounds incredible."

Led Zeppelin, "Led Zeppelin": "Their first album, and I still love it. My pop tastes tend to lean toward classic rock."

Gram Parsons, "Grievous Angel": "I think of him as the creator of modern country-rock. I first bought the album when it came out in '73, and last year at a record convention in Austin, I bought an original promotional copy for $100."

- Nick Carter

From the March 5, 2004 editions of the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel